FADS FOR LADS

and fashion for their elders—"HIGH ART" clothes give both.

This store is as broad in its range of goods as it is in its range of prices. It is the tastes of those who wear them, and both the style and the dollar-prudent naturally look here.

You can't befool a young man on this store's fashion-wise. That's why young men turn as naturally to this store as water flows down hill.

PERSONALS AND BRIEFS.

Notes of Happenings and People You Know.

Of all the weavers that I know,
The oriole is the best;
High on the branches of a tree
She hangs her cozy nest.

Kites like meats are soaring, but the soaring of the one gives joy while that of the other causes sadness.

"Cherries are ripe." Will that be our song when the May time comes? Let us hope so, and yet now and then we get to be scared.

Why don't some one buy the Booker Jackson property, pull down and put up a sky scraper in Farmville? We have most everything else and are entitled to this.

Remember to pay your poll tax on or before the 7th of May. That is if you want to vote in the fall election. The privilege should be prized, and no free man should fail to appreciate its value.

The good "Deacon" of the Times-Dispatch has accepted the Herald's invitation to spend Sunday in Farmville, and should he honor us with his presence on the 24th, he may rest assured that tuberculosis will not be the theme of our pulpits. But come when he may, the latch string will be found hanging well on the outside.

"It is related that when Hannibal was at the gates of Rome a farm outside the walls sold at the usual price." And yet we are told that real estate securities are not best securities. Neither the fires of war nor the fury of man can destroy them. Like the hills they are here to stay.

Messrs. Freear & Garland have installed a soda fountain, and it is a "thing of beauty." Farmville has the best collection of fountains of any town of like size in the country. And this is not to be wondered at as she is demanding and getting the "best" on all lines.

The front of the Westover has been given a spring coat of paint, and while the work was being done the "bench" had to be moved a little to the north. The old timers moved with it, and now that it is on its native heath again, still cling to it.

From the best information we have been able to obtain the frost of the 8th inst did not do any great damage, though it did do some killing. We noticed some leaves which had been touched and examined some buds that were dead, but the trees had blossoms to spare.

Friend "Bob" West, now of Chase City, but always of Farmville, was in town on Saturday shaking hands right and left. And everybody was glad to see him. He has fallen in love with his new home, but his "heart untraveled" still lives in Farmville.

Mr. Serpell tells us that the water supply for the residences now going up on the eastern hills around town will put to blush that of Farmville. A complete sewer system is to be inaugurated and if the electric lights are not furnished from the Farmville plant he will introduce one of his own.

The high school boys of the Cumberland Courthouse school are going to have a "high old time" tomorrow, and they invite their friends and the public generally to come and see them beat Farmville boys jumping, running, swinging the hammer and knocking the ball. Go and enjoy the sport and eat the best dinner to be had for fifty cents in all Virginia.

Mr. R. W. Fuqua was in town on Tuesday when the rain was falling gently, gloriously, and he remarked that getting uneasy about the tobacco plants he spent Monday in watering the beds. No labor lost, however, for it is a good habit to be taking time by the forelock. It is half behind and you can't get a grip. Mr. Fuqua told us also that he averaged nine and a quarter for last season's crop and at that price he wouldn't have to move to the poorhouse. And yet whenever he eats at the poorhouse he is sure to get a meal fit for the gods.

Read the creamery notes and learn that it is growing and prospering. And looking over the names of the farmers who are contributing to its success we are impressed with the fact that a large majority of them are new comers, many of them Germans, and all enthusiastic creamery advocates. They know what such institutions have done in other places and are convinced that they can be made to accomplish like results here. Of course they can, and shame upon the doubting Thomas who doubts it. We will not admit we can't do what other people have done.

Used the World over

No other article of human food has ever received such emphatic commendation for purity, usefulness and wholesomeness from the most eminent authorities.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

If you don't enjoy reading the Herald then you don't enjoy communion with your friends.

The woods are now spotted in splendor, the dogwood being in full blossom.

Alas, we have no May cherry trees when there is promise of a cherry crop.

Last Saturday was a busy day in town and the Main street panorama was a most imposing one.

The noble oaks on High street are receiving again their crowns of glory.

That tree in the yard of Mrs. T. P. Robertson, which has been wearing a crown of red, is a thing of beauty.

Now and then our sister towns name "clearing up days," but all days are clearing up days in Farmville.

Some peaches are forming on the trees and we begin to catch visions of that basket filled with ripe ones fresh from the home trees of which we have so often made mention.

Get ready to swim in the sea or climb the mountains, but remember if you wish to have an ideal summer you can't afford to leave Farmville.

Waynesboro has an appropriation of $40 a year for shade trees. Let Farmville make it $100, and if we are not to observe the Arbor day designated by the Governor, let's have one of our own.

Capt. E. Scott Martin has just received a handsome automobile. As it stood on Main street preparatory to its maiden trip it was the "observed of all observers." Autos may come and autos may go, but the horse is "here to stay."

The coming commencement at Hampden-Sidney promises to be one of unusual interest. The graduating class is a large one, and it is even now known that the "Hill" will be crowded with visitors from a distance. Farmville will be represented, and we know some young ladies who couldn't be securely tied at their homes during the commencement week.

Mr. R. S. Rice is still driving old "Wash," once owned by the late Governor McKinney, and who is said now to be thirty-one years of age. And yet he is in good keeping and steps along nimbly for a gentleman of his age. He has a good master, one who measures well up to the Bible standard, a man "merciful to his beast."

The young orchard of Mr. Serpell just in front of his residence is a beauty, and the trees are in a most flourishing condition, their bodies all nicely white washed, and they give promise of being fine fruit bearers in the near future. Let us hope that this section will be dotted over with flourishing orchards as soon as the local nursery plant begins the sale of trees.

Farmville like Richmond should have taken in its suburbs before the census man came around: We are entitled to at least five hundred population we are not going to get credit for. We may not be just satisfied with our increase of population in the past ten years, but on other lines we have gone bounding ahead by leaps and bounds.

While new houses are going up in Farmville old ones are being improved. During our rambles we notice workmen busy at the Burton home on east Third street, on Mr. Barrow's residence on south Main, that of Mr. Smith on east Second. The residence of Mr. J. Ashby Armistead, on Virginia street, is receiving finishing touches and shines in new and attractive colors. Other foundations are being laid on Serpell heights, and still another on Virginia street.

Mrs. Walker Scott is again at home from her visit in Roanoke.

Mrs. J. M. Crute and Mrs. C. F. Bugg were in Richmond on last Monday and Tuesday.

Mr. Wilson at the T. & W. depot is again at work on his miniature garden, and is going to make two vegetables grow where only one grew before.

We have two doctors in our town council, but that doesn't mean that Farmville as a body corporate is diseased, but that like the Chinese we employ the M. D. to keep us well and in good growing condition.

Many of the blossoms have come and gone, and now we watch anxiously for the fruit to follow.

The grass in the Courthouse yard is a sea of living green, grateful to the eye and pleasant to look upon.

The Harrisonburg Times well says, "there is more life in an acre of huckleberry than in a continent of cemeteries." The town that doesn't advertise its advantages is a dead town, or a town asleep.

It looks as though we would enter upon another summer without that drinking fountain in full play on Main street. Here is an opportunity for some one of our townsmen or townswomen to leave a monument to his or her memory.

It is a pity that the grass isn't allowed to grow at the base of the monument, but the babies of town and the Normal girls have the right of way in all Farmville, and no one dare say them nay. Nor grass, nor flowers must impede their goings.

Did you read the statements of our banks as given in last week's Herald? If not hunt up the paper, read them carefully and rejoice in the fact that Farmville has money to spare. Trot out the security and the cash is yours to command.

From reference to the registers our hotel proprietors must be doing good business. And the money they make is kept at home. We are glad to hear the traveling public say, "they know how to keep hotels." A town is judged by its hotels.

Mr. Walter Smith, who has recently purchased the residence on Second street which was occupied by Dr. Spencer, has moved into it with his family. Dr. and Mrs. Spencer are now boarding with Mrs. Walton until their new home has been built.

The usual Wednesday evening prayer meeting was not held at the Methodist Church on Wednesday, and the pastor and people worshipped with the Presbyterians. With the one short word, "Sin," as his subject, Rev. W. E. Hill preached a solemn and impressive sermon.

It is about time for the city chap to be moving to the country, bringing with him an ignorance like that of the little fellow who when he first saw a calf tugging at its mother, cried out, "Come here, mama, see the little cow eating up the big one."

There is a pleasant diversion offered at the Opera House evening after evening. The moving pictures are always in evidence, and they never fail of interest. And then other interesting entertainment is offered, and all at most reasonable cost. It is a good resting place after the labors of the day, and the enterprising manager deserves and should receive encouragement.

The entertainment to be given at the Stoddard School on next Friday evening promises to be a literary, musical and social event of the highest order. After the "flow of soul and feast of reason" refreshments will be served, and coming from the hands of Cumberland housekeepers will be such as to satisfy the tastes of the most fastidious. Go early and remain until the curtain is rung down.

Dr. Maurice Laskey, of Chicago is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Simon Laskey.

Mrs. Eugene Gill went to Richmond on Monday to join her mother and brother.

Mrs. Bettie Venable and Mrs. Sallie Paulett, of Hampden-Sidney, drove down Wednesday evening to attend prayer meeting services, and returned home after the preaching.

We regret to know of the serious illness of Robert, son of Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Hamlett. Miss Irby, of Richmond, who nursed Mrs. White, for seven weeks, has been called to his bedside.

The weeping willow is as graceful of foliage as of yore. No change in color or shape of drooping leaf, but with no goddess of fashion to dictate changes none of old-time charm has gone.

Mrs. Louis Jenkins, of Lynchburg, has been visiting friends in town, though she came down on account of the illness of the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lindsey.

And how the sun did shine out on Wednesday after the clouds rolled away. We again express profound sympathy for the folks who are not fortunate enough to live in Southside Virginia.

The rain which began falling on Tuesday and which continued during the night, came as a God-send. All nature revived and was made to rejoice. This is the "early rain," and now we will work on buoyant with the hope of the "latter" in due time.

The State is to buy another "test" farm, this time in the Valley of Virginia. Our hope is that it may bear the test better than its predecessor in the Southside has done. The trouble with test farms in the general is found in the fact that the experiments on them make more of science than of common sense.

Mr. S. W. Paulett, Jr., makes a ringing call elsewhere in the Herald to meet in the Courthouse on Tuesday evening next to consider the subject of a new high school building. It is matter of deep public concern, and the public should be heard from. Let there be a full meeting, and a free and full discussion of the question in all its bearings.

Services have been held each evening of the week at the Presbyterian Church. Sunday morning, at that church, the regular quarterly communion will be observed, and at the evening hour of worship the pastor will resume his sermons to young men, the subject being, "The Young Man and Women."

The meeting of the Library Association which was announced for last Tuesday evening was recalled on account of the meetings which were in progress at the Presbyterian Church. Next Monday night, at the home of Dr. Kerlin, the friends of the Association will meet and decide upon plans for the future. A full attendance is desired.

Matinees are not of common occurrence in Farmville, but we did have one last Wednesday evening and it must have been a success, as those who went in looked happy, and when they came out they looked more so. Farmville is determined to have all that goes to make up city life, barring of its poverty and misery, and will have it if it "takes all summer."

Matt. xi:1-19.

Golden Text.—But the witness which I have is greater than that of John: for the works which the Father hath given me to accomplish, the very works that I do, bear witness of me, that the Father hath sent me. John v:36. (R. V.)

(1.) Verse 1.—Jesus appears to have taken great pains to instruct his twelve disciples, but why did he not leave them to be instructed wholly by God's Spirit?

(2.) In the case of preaching, or prayer, or testimony, does God propose for us just to "open our mouths and he will fill them," or that we should be as thoroughly and humanly prepared, as if there were no God?

(3.) Does thorough preparation for Christian work, show lack of faith, or strong faith in God? Why?

(4.) Verses 2-3.—Why did John ask this question as to whether Jesus was the Christ?

(5.) What if any reason is there to believe that John was now wrestling with doubt, as to the truth of what he had been preaching concerning Jesus?

(6.) What would you say concerning a man of God teaching spiritual truth, in one period, which he knew to be true, and subsequently having grave doubts of the very truth of which he had been so sure?

(7.) Does any kind of doubt on the part of a holy man, necessarily imply sin, or show weakness?

(8.) Is doubt a necessary part of God's training or not, for men of strong character and important work?

(9.) Verse 4.—Why is a man bowed down with sorrow, and crushed with disappointment, not in a condition to properly weigh evidence of spiritual truth?

(10.) Jesus said, "Go and show John again those things, etc." Is evidence of spiritual truth made more forceful through being repeated on different occasions, and whether or not, why was it necessary to repeat to John what he had already heard?

(11.) Why would it not be a blessing to the people if a minister repeated his most effectual sermons?

(12.) Verses 5-6.—Jesus laid stress in that day upon his miracles, coupled with the fact that he preached the gospel to the poor, as the proof of his Messiahship, but what is the supreme or chief proof to-day? (This question may have to be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(13.) Even suppose the miracles of Jesus should prove to be historical myths, would that detract in any measure from the grandeur of his character or the greatness of his work?

(14.) Verses 7-8.—What influences caused John to live such a plain, or rigorous life? (See Matt. III:4, et seq.)

(15.) Take for example two men, one devout, the other godless, one living in a richly furnished home and dressing in good clothes, the other living in a plain home and wearing coarse apparel, which of the two is more likely to be the godless man, and why?

(16.) What was the difference in the mode of the life of Jesus, and that of John the Baptist?

(17.) Verses 9-11.—What were the minimum qualities essential to being a prophet, and in what particular did John exceed these?

(18.) In what did the greatness of John the Baptist consist, from the standpoint of Jesus?

(19.) If Jesus had in mind a "greater" and a "greater," then in what two senses is this word used by him here?

(20.) Verses 12-15.—What is religious "violence" and what is the nature of the "force" which captures the kingdom of heaven?

(21.) Verses 16-19.—What caused them to denounce John for qualities the absence of which in Jesus they also denounced?

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such article should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure, be sure to get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by druggists. Price 75c. per bottle. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.
